Cautions and Care Instructions

Keep It Clean - Clean your cover once a month, more often if needed, with a mild solution of dish washing liquid and warm water and rinse thoroughly.

Condition your Vinyl Cover - Use 303 Protectant once a month to condition the vinyl of your cover. This will protect the vinyl and replace the original protectant in the vinyl that the sun and elements strip away. Due to the harsh qualities of many other conditioners, if 303 Protectant is not used, the warranty will be void. Do not use any other brand of conditioner.

Condition your Sunbrella® Cover - Use 303 High Tech Fabric Guard after each thorough cleaning, which typically removes the original finish and reduces the fabric's water repellency. For further detailed cleaning and reconditioning information, go to www.sunbrella.com and read the link for "Marine Tops and Covers". Please note, although bleach may be used on the Sunbrella fabric, it may lead to deterioration of sewing thread and other non-Sunbrella components.

Do Not Under Estimate the Power of Chemicals - For example, improper chlorine and PH levels can cause damage to your cover and spa. Over chlorination causes burning of the cover bottom material and deterioration of thread. Some color change to the cover bottom material is normal, but excessive discoloring and texture changes are a sign of improper chemical levels and will void the warranty. Proper chemical balance will help prolong the life of your cover. Ask your spa dealer about the proper chemicals for your spa.

Avoid Overheating of the cover by not covering with plastic or glass as this can super heat and melt the vinyl and foam cores.

Avoid Puddles - If your cover develops a puddle on top, you can prolong the life of the cover by unzipping the cover, and removing and flipping the foam core. Be careful not to damage the foam cores' vapor barrier. Replacement cores are available for purchase.
